

Principinoca 1957

Foreword

On the pages of this volume are recorded some of the Tri-City High School happenings in nineteen hundred and fifty-seven. Here are memories, pictorial and printed, depicting the characteristics of life at Tri-City High, socially and intellectually.

Believing this, we, the TRICINOCA staff, hope that we have helped to preserve these unforgettable memories, and that this book will always serve as a rich treasure.

Class History

Tri-City High School — was it possible that at last we were sophomores, a part of this beautiful dream-come-true? It was a little frightening but very challenging. We looked up to the juniors and seniors with respect and awe. We plunged into our first year's work at Tri-City with great enthusiasm. We were quite anxious to find out exactly what was in store for us. This was a very different experience indeed. Our football team was enthusiastically supported in the fall. At our homecoming game our chimes were dedicated which were given by Mr. John Motley Morehead. We studied JULIUS CAESAR, did Algebra homework nightly, and dissected frogs, complaining all the while. We found it hard to buckle down to the studying that high school required.

At the end of our sophomore year we left reluctantly, realizing that when we returned in the fall our places would be filled with younger, new faces; but we were looking forward to our new positions as juniors. Our junior year proved to be one of the most active. Mrs. Ivie was our advisor and she worked closely with us in the magazine sale, the buying of class rings, and the planning of our junior-senior. That year our junior social, "You Can Dream," was a big hit. We became interested in all the social functions at Tri-City. The highlight of our pride, each believing that his own ring was quite different from all the others. We displayed them to the sophomores who looked at them with envy and at us with renewed respect. Junior-senior time was drawing near. Committees were appointed and everyone began working enthusiastically on "Some Enchanted Evening." We worked tirelessly on making crepe paper flowers, painting scenes, and hanging silver-starred crepe paper. We took great pride in the finished product and felt that it was truly an "enchanted evening." This unforgettable night was brought to a close with confetti flying into the folds of net and chiffon. The class of '56 elected nine juniors to serve as junior marshals.

Our happiest year at Tri-City came to an end all too soon. We realized that our days at Tri-City were drawing to a close. As seniors we had quite a busy year. To supplement our treasury we had the annual candy sale. We were faced with the problem of deciding what our life's work would be. We began taking scholarship tests and sending in our college application blanks. This was the year for electing superlatives. We also chose our class colors, flower, and motto. We still have the junior-senior, the senior trip and the senior prom to look forward to. And then there's graduation night — a happy, yet sad occasion. Having just a few months left at Tri-City, we realize how much it has come to mean to us. Of course it has not all been fun; there has been a great deal of work put into making the class of '57 one that Tri-City will never forget.

For all Tri-City has given to us in the past we shall always be grateful. Whatever success and happiness the future holds for each of us, we shall owe in part to the start in life that we found — a wonderful starting place — Tri-City High School.

LUCY REYNOLDS

Last Will and Testament

To our friends and fellow classmates we bequeath the following possessions:

Jerry Allen, Russell Hill, and Guy McCall leave their love of hillbilly music to anyone interested in that type.

Leroy Carter, Ronald Dodson, Mike Hough, and Donnie Matthews leave their afternoon sessions with Mr. Rhodes to Johnny Eggleston, Bill Stein, and Donnie Craig.

Barbara Hopper and Sammy Gammons, Jack Burgart and Faye Pratt, LaVerne Sumner and Roy Frazier, Patsy Hankins and R. E. New leave their hall romances to any Junior or Sophomore couples who can "get by" with it.

C. G. Hall, Bobby Sutliff, Tommy Hunt, and Bobby Thompson leave Lynn Wortham, Alice

Geer, Karen Wortham, and Carol Land to all the wolves at Tri-City with hopes that they will be true.

Margaret Light, Ardell Webb, and Geraldine Pratt leave to join their husbands at last!

Joan Carpenter, June Robertson, Peggy Dalton, and JoAnn Searcy leave their ability to play basketball to Ann Marie Stultz, and Hazel Griffin.

Myra Meeks, Jane Odell, Lucy Reynolds, and Barbara Hopper leave their cheerleading uniforms to some deserving Junior or Sophomore.

Thomas Stanley, Johnny Minter, Sherril Medberry, and Jackie Caudle leave their red hair to Joe Eggleston, Gene Stanley, or anybody who would like to have it.

Frank Walker leaves his chemistry grade to anyone who is dumb enough to take chemistry.

Ronnie Younts, Leon Combs, and Billy Hopper leave their ability to get up their Solid Geometry and "Trig" homework during homeroom period to anyone who can "get by" with so little preparation.

Paula Frohman, Nona Wilson and Edna Harris leave their public speaking ability to Lee Kirby and Janie MacIssac.

Faye Barrow, Betty Gillie, Dave Hall, Kay Stultz, and Veronica Kennon leave their Glee Club seats to anyone who can carry a tune.

Nancy Forbes, Peggy Gibson, Ken Joyce, Betty Moore, Nancy Ayers, Jeanette Shelton, Sandra Spencer, Lucretia Thomasson, and Evelyn Willard leave their positions in the Honor Society to deserving Juniors and Sophomores.

Charlotte Burchell, Nancy Richardson, and Sandra Pratt leave seats on bus 37 to any students who can fill them. (Aspirins for the driver, please!)

Buddy Bowers, George Huff, William Reese, Ralph Roach, Pete Smart, and Donald Warren leave their football uniforms after years of playing on the Tri-City team.

Pete Grogan, Vernell Gillespie, Jeannie Wilmouth, Ronnie Hailey, Mike Turner, and Bud Law leave their buses to any Junior or Sophomore crazy enough to drive them.

Ann McCollum, Alma Dean Stack, and Linda Hubbard leave their musical talents to Kay Durham, Myra Greer, and Virginia Crowder.

Joe Scales and Kenneth Washburn leave their big feet and loudness to anybody who can fill their shoes or can holler.

Janice Wray, Melvine Gillie, Sandra Massey, Novella Underwood, Barbara Leffew, Doris Montgomery, Betty Kallam, and Donna Gatewood leave their wit and ??? to the Junior Class.

DeWitt Howlett, Watt Dyer, and Bobby Hopper leave their ability to break lunch line to Billy McCollum, Donnie Marlowe, and Wylie Hatcher.

Buddy Hall, Bobby DeHart, Ernest Turner, David Williams, Neil Hailey, Jerry Jones, William Howell, Jimmy Knight, William Wright, Melvin Clark, Robert Earles, Benny Freeman, Johnny Purdy and Frank Hodges are leaving school to continue their jobs.

Mike Flanagan, Reva Burkes, Sybil Ellis, and Donna Wilson leave — they hope.

Joan Holt, Glenda Simmons, and Duke Shorsphire leave their reducing pills.

Huey Watkins, Judy Archibald and Ray Parrish leave their artistic ways.

Norma Foster, Phyllis Thomas, Arnice Nichols, Louise Lovelace, Susie Stone, and Shirley Denny leave their work in the office and library.

Linda Roach, Jean Hopkins, Carol Stegall, Frances Hundley, Elizabeth Chambers, Jean Wood, Margie Leonard, Martha Martin, Doris Matherly, Frances Gibson, Otelia Patterson, Dot Wray, Jean Murphy, Faye Saul, Sylvia Pulliam, Annie Mae Rierison, Dovie Firth, Judy Patterson, Arlene Gusler, Carrie McDaniel, Jean Harris, Frances Jones, Evangeline Meadows, Adrian DeHart, Muriel McGuire, Avis Cooper, and Roberta Rigney leave their shy ways.

Barbara Smith, Barbara Snow, Frances Thompson, Betty Tucker, Carolyn Arnall, Charles McCubbin, and Buddy Holman leave winning personality to J. Stultz, Jimmy Walker, and Jimmy Goldston.

Ronnie Reynolds leave with the "dead."

Sondra Vestal leaves her chairmanship of all food committees to anybody who gets stuck with it.

Ronnie Wimbish leaves his position as Student Council president to a deserving person.

ANNUAL STAFF

Class Prophecy

We are in the office of Dr. A. J. Quigley, noted psychiatrist, who intends to try for the first time in history age progression — projecting the hypnotized patient into the future. Dr. Quigley already has the patient in a hypnotic trance and his two secretaries, pencils poised, standing ready to take notes.

Dr. Quigley: You are going forward . . . forward . . . forward into the future. What year is it?

Patient: It is . . . about 1977.

Dr. Quigley: Can you see what has become of the superior graduating class of 1957 from Tri-City High School?

Patient: It is . . . about 1977.

Dr. Quigley: (eagerly) Yes, go on. What do you see?

Patient: Locally, I see that Donnie Matthews has succeeded Mr. Morgan as head of the folk dancing department at Tri-City. Pete Grogan is still repairing the Chemistry Lab, which he revengefully blew up his senior year. Adrian Dehart is creating quite a stir by making wine the old way — stamping grapes in the bathtub. Always cooperative, Tony Holland and Leroy Carter are wearing the Yul Brynner haircut at the request of the Leaksville Fire Department. Sandra Pratt and Otelia Bailey are nominees for Tri-City mother of the year. Ronnie Hailey is still serving for taking the governors off all school buses. Billy Hopper is bed-ridden due to injuries received as a bus driver. Faye Saul walks the halls of Tri-City with Ronald Hill, even though the school has been vacant for the past ten years. Engineer Jack Burgart is currently employed in rebuilding Mebane Bridge. Betty Moore has daily headaches over her elementary school pupils, but is tolerant, remembering her own youth. Mortician Ronnie Reynolds has buried his thousandth customer without a single complaint. Having sold himself to the masses, Frank Walker is governor of North Carolina. Watt Dyer is using his geometrical knowledge to raise hexagonal tobacco. C. G. Hall coaches basketball at State.

On the domestic scene also: Peggy Gibson and Alma Dean Stack, now married and mothers of eight and twelve children respectively, spend most of their time trying to keep each other's offspring off their flower beds. Frank Hodges moved to Arabia and acquired a harem of 144 lovely dancing girls, for which he paid five dollars down and five dollars a week for the rest of his life. Although happily married, Susie Stone keeps her husband's business associates entranced. Sandra Massey uses her pediatric knowledge on her seven children. Roy Frazier and LaVerne Sumner are the proud parents of twelve robust boys. Margaret Light writes the Molly Matfield column while she isn't taking care of her two sets of triplets and Jean Hopkins is the mother of the first set of quintuplets born in North Carolina. Ray Parrish is wanted by the police, not only for having seventeen wives, but also for questioning in the mysterious disappearance of his seventeen mothers-in-law.

Nationally speaking: Ronald Wimbish, besides being the first redheaded President, was the first to have an all-girl cabinet, which included Avis Cooper as Secretary of Home and Fireside, and Ann McCollum as Censor General and Joan Carpenter as Secretary of Miscellany. Joan Holt, who enjoyed so thoroughly taking minutes for the senior class, is now doing the same for cabinet meetings. Ex-President Wimbish no sooner left than Carolyn Arnall uncomplainingly followed her husband (whom she met while a waitress in a Georgia Tech fraternity house) into the drafty old White House. Betty Tucker is clothes consultant for Queen Elizabeth. Dorothy Wray and Judy Archibald served as stewardesses on the first rocket to the moon five years ago.

Co-operating trainers Joe Scales and Jeannie Wilmoth finally saw their horse, jockeyed by Everette Brown, beat Nashua III in the Kentucky Derby. Sondra Vestal has taken Betty Crocker's place at General Mills and sees to it that her picture is on every box of cereal that leaves the factory. Due to recognition won in college debating, Judy Patterson is the National head of the Voice of Democracy Contest. Former Miss America Barbara Hopper now cheers Sammy Gammons on to victory in the 1977 Olympics while she stays home with Sam, Jr. Sandra Spencer and Norma Foster are among the nation's ten best dressed women. Dovie Frith designs hats for Saks Fifth Avenue. America came out first in the Olympics back in 1969, chiefly because of JoAnne Searcy's basketball skill.

Nancy Ayers married a naturalist who is currently doing research on plant life in Antarctica. George Huff, former big league ball player, sells fur coats to the cannibals. Since missionary David Williams converted and civilized Lower Slobbovia, friendship ambassador Ernest Turner has been sent to our newly-established embassy there. Benny Freeman is the proud owner of a banana plantation in South Africa. Bud Law, looking somewhat haggard, keeps the harem for an Indian Maharaja. Forestry agent Maurice Carter directs operations in the Siberian Tundra.

In the world of ulcers and ticker-tape, Bobby Thompson and Bobby Sutliff are waging a battle of stocks for control of Ford Motors. Huey Watkins is the editor, staff, and printer for the magazine Insanity for the Masses, which drove Mad out of business. Robert Earles, having replaced Messrs. Cooper and Ratcliff, is burdened with the problems of a world-wide chain of food stores. After being successful secretaries for fifteen years, Phyllis Thomas, Muriel McGuire, and Jean Harris are bettering mankind through the S.P.L.C.B. — Society for the Promotion of Longer Coffee Breaks.

It is believed that Annie Mae Rierson and Frances Gibson have married millionaires. It has not been verified which ones. Tommy Hunt made his millions operating an ice cream store to rival Tri-City's. Having inherited a fantastic fortune, Bobby DeHart is making sure he can't take it with him by spending it as quickly as possible. Millionaire playboy Ernie Hunter has just divorced his sixth wife and will marry his seventh tomorrow. Says Ernie, "She reminds me of my mother!"

Although the practices of bleeding the patient and operating without anesthesia have been pretty generally discontinued among members of the medical profession, Doctors Melvine Gillie and Barbara Leffew still belong to the old school. They are at present looking for their last patient, Evelyn Willard, who came to them five years ago to have a splinter removed.

Jerry Jones is a truck driver and has written a book about his travels and experiences. Linda Roach is engaged to a famous sports car enthusiast and Mike Turner works as a vampire for the local blood bank. Kindhearted Jean Murphy is a blacksmith's assistant in a home for aged horses. The Acrobat Shoe Company employs Kenneth "Tootsie" Washburn testing new shoes. Elizabeth Chambers is eyeing enviously Peggy Dalton's position as lieutenant colonel in the WAC's. We hope she doesn't do anything rash! Bobby Hopper pitches with a women's baseball team. Faye Barrow's gift to humanity is an improved method for remembering names — she has had hers tattooed on her forehead. Thomas Stanley is making a living changing light bulbs in Thalhimer's. Says the manager, "Tommy is much more efficient since he doesn't need a ladder!" Brenda Thomas, after making a fair living as an architect, set out for the Orient on her gold-plated yacht with only a Girl Scout compass.

I see that Tri-City also has its share of intellectuals. Ronald Dodson is methodically disproving all geometry theorems, for which "solid" students will be eternally grateful. Mike Hough laid the groundwork for Ronald's work, however, by proving that things equal to the same or equal things are not necessarily equal to each other. After Lucretia Thomasson wrote her criticism of Einstein's slipshod job on his theory of Relativity, Dave Hall simplified it so that it can be mastered easily by any physics student. All this time, Mathematician Nancy Forbes is coaching Mrs. Dininny in geometry.

Archaeologist Nona Wilson recently published her first book, Interesting Facts About Old Fossils. William Write's new album has proven invaluable to backyard biologists. It is called "Sounds of North American Protozoons." Jane Odell acts as chairwoman on the Atomic Energy Commission. Buddy Bowers is psychiatrist for well-known football players. Jeanette Shelton says that she is prouder of her three children than of her twelve doctorates. International linguist Martha Martin has often been called upon for strategic translations. Mac Cassel teaches anatomy at W. C.

Carol Stegall and Shirley Denny collaborated in making a modernized, revised version of Mother Goose. Renown nursery rhyme critic Glenda Simmons acclaims the tale "Goldilocks and the 3.1416 Bears" as the literary triumph of the century.

From the publicity gained in the Miss Flame contest Edna Harris has become the official pin-up girl of the Raleigh fire department. Ralph Roach poses for Jantzen and Catalina ads. For publicity, Barbara Snow climbed Mt. Everest in a bathing suit. Arnice Nichols models space suits. Doris Matherly, by unanimous consent, is the world's most glamorous lady welder. Jimmy Burgess, having established himself as a distinguished gentlemen, is posing for Smirnoff Vodka advertisements.

Thumbing through the patent files, we find that R. E. New crossed a chicken and a spider, getting an animal (?) with light drumsticks and no wings while Pat Hankins tries to keep these creatures from biting the children. Pete Smart is still hard at work making synthetic women out of sawdust, chicken fat, and an ingredient the nature of which he refuses to divulge. As an aid to womankind, nurses Charlotte Burchell and June Robertson have produced an ideal reducing diet — it consists chiefly of nothing. Mad scientists Jimmy Knight and William Howell are endeavoring to blow up the remaining half of the world. Donald Warren invented a face cream that makes all women beautiful and charges an exorbitant price for it. Chemist Arthur Holman has discovered a shaving cream made with hydrochloric acid. It makes the razor obsolete. Betty's Big Liver Pills (brain-child of Betty Kallam) have driven Carter's Little Liver Pills out of business. Melvin Clark originated an add-water-and-stir mix for martinis.

Working together, Johnny Purdy and Junior Richardson won General Motors recognition by designing a square car. Neil Hailey popularized his invention, "feelanision." Sybil Ellis devised a revolving love-seat for loveriangles. (Also comes in sizes for love hexagons, pentagons, and octagons.) Mike Flanagan recently came out with a 200 proof cough syrup, which has helped his chronic cough considerably. Margie Leonard bred a chicken that will lay square eggs — but only when fed square grain! Andy Talbert now produces a mouthwash that makes men irresistible to women. The secret — it smells like money! John Lowther has compounded a set of pills by which one can acquire a thorough knowledge of any subject without the formality of attending class. Bird-watcher Juanita Brammer has perfected a new bird-call which not only attracts birds but men also!

Guy McCall, writer of the "American National Epic," is considered the modern equal of Shakespeare. Jean Wood is using Donna Wilson as the model for the soon-to-be-finished statue, "Athena." Louise Lovelace, inspired by her last name, composes verses for valentines. Kay Stultz went into Sahara Desert six years ago to paint landscapes and hasn't been heard of since. Ken Joyce keeps body and soul together by designing and modeling Bermuda shorts.

"Buffalo" Leon Combs furnishes good clean entertainment for the kiddies on the Howdy Docdy show. Jaguar-driving Janice Wray has the job of producing this program. Comedians Younts and Butler are currently featuring comediennesses Reva Burkes and Faye Pratt on their television show. Elvis Presley's old age is made considerably more comfortable by his staff. This includes his chauffeur, Sylvia Pulliam; his secretary, Barbara Leffew; his National Fan Club Head, Frances Thompson; and his general business manager, Doris Montgomery. The work is so pleasant that they demand no salary. Veronica Kennon and Betty Gillie are beauticians to some of the world's famous women. Among these are figure skater Donna Gatewood; Myra Meeks, a modern dancer; and Jackie Caudle, who has let her hair grow, donned a leopard skin and stars in jungle movies. Duke Shropshire, having won national typing and bop awards, is gainfully employed as a dancing secretary. Johnny Minter is editor-in-chief of the periodical, Lurid Love Stories. On television, Frances Hundley has replaced Tinker Bell in Disneyland commercials. Jerry Allen's latest release on Escape records has broken all previous sales records. It is called "Tutti-Frutti Run Rampant." Linda Hubbard did it again too — her fifth hit record in a row. Vernell Gillispie and Chuck McCubbin are trying for the star role in William Reece's new extravaganza, "The Loves of Rudolph Valentino."

Due to the fact that Lucy Reynolds, star of the Broadway hit, "Anthony and Cleopatra," shaved her head for the part; wig manufacturer Betty Gillie is doing a snappy business since the fad caught on. These hairpieces come in assorted shades — aqua, lavender, and canary — and three sizes — pin, regular, and swelled. (Address all orders to Carrie McDaniels or Roberta Rigney, secretaries).

As for Paula Frohman and Sherell Medberry, they are still recovering from taking down this first experiment with age progression.

Mrs. Banks . . . "Girl Friday" To Students And Faculty

When Oliver Goldsmith said, "And still they gazed and still the wonder grew: That one small head could carry all he knew," he certainly could have been speaking of Mrs. Evelyn Banks, our school secretary.

A good secretary should possess many qualities, and students and faculty alike at Tri-City High agree that Mrs. Banks must possess an over-abundance of these qualities.

To spend a day with Mrs. Banks at her desk would tire many people, since her job consists of many different tasks. Among her seemingly never ending duties are making attendance records, keeping books, making bus reports, maintaining bus operation, receiving and paying bills, cutting stencils and mimeographing, keeping books of the school finances and taking dictation and typing with these regular duties is the answering of the constant telephone and assisting the many visitors to the school also usually lends a helping hand to any project which on in the school, such as College Day and Social 8.

However, When Mrs. Banks leaves school every day is certainly not ended. She leads an energetic woman doesn't with a family. Wayne, her son, is a postman with the Leaksville Post Office and resides on the Reidsville Road.

Business students may ask, "Will you be so efficient?" attended Westworth High School in Greensboro. She has been for owner and manager of the
